To Sheep-farmers and the Public in general.

F. C. Calvert's Phenyline & Terebane.

The great reputation these specifics have enjoyed in England on account of their extraordinary success in all cases where they have been applied, has induced the proprietor to introduce them in this market on account of the immense sheep farming interest of the country. To enable sheep-farmers to obviate in future the enormous losses they sustain yearly, not only in the cankers etc.

Cows; distemper, an all diseases of the hoofs.

For wounds or bruises resulting from accident and for all general Veterinary purposes these remedies are sure. Phenyline is found to be remarkably successful in the Hospitals. In England for curing Cancer. Terebane is also used for preserving hides, skins and bones from all vermin, and insects, the parcels already cured with it in this city and Australia, have merited the approval of purchasers in England who report them to be perfectly sound and sweet. FRIDAY, JULY 31 1863.

FOREIGN CLAIMS.

In Buenos Aires, on the 9th May 1862, the undersigned met—the first as the commissioner of the government of Buenos Ayres, and the second her Britannic Majesty's Consul. The meetings having been continued frequently, and the difficulties in settling the claims insuperable, they agreed upon a fixed sum for the whole; 1,650.00 dollars currency, which sum includes the 25 per cent agreed on for delays. It was agreed that said sum should be paid in 6 per cent public bonds, and should be regarded as a final settlement of all British claims to date.

It was agreed that these bonds should be delivered to H.B.M. Consul, to be distributed amongst the proper parties.

Signed
D. V. Sarsfield.—F. Parish

All claims having been amicably settled, Dr Sarsfield sent a letter to Dr Costa, the then minister of Buenos Ayres, informing him of the fact. All these claims, it appears, are for debts or damages of the time of Rosas, legally recognised, none being subsequent to the third of February 1853. No claims were admitted for deaths, imprisonments or injuries done by Rosas or his agents. Neither were claims admitted upon written informations, as so many frauds were committed in this way respecting the Paraná debt, and as the governments of the respective countries of the claimants would not admit claims on such evidence, if advanced by Argentines

The French claims were arranged, May 27th, 1862, for 3 millions dollars mjc. with the late Count de Brossard, French Consul: and made payable in the same manner as the English.

On the 23d August, 1862, the remaining claims, by the Consuls for Italy, Prussia, Switzerland, and the United States, were definitively settled for 2,821,103 dollars. Of the first, Messrs. Cori Francischelli are the chief claimants, their amount being two-thirds of the whole Italian inddemnity. The Prussian demand is reduced to the house of Bunge, being about 800,000 dollars mjc. Mr. S. B. Hale, the sole American sufferer, is awarded 532,500 dollars mjc. Mr. Louis Chapeaurouge, Swiss citizen, comes in for 70,262 dols.

The sum total of foreign claims is 6,971,103 dollars mjc. The various amounts are to be handed over, in B. Ayrean 6 per cent bonds at par, to the respective Consuls, for distribution among the claimants.

We have been requested to state that none of the American claims admitted or rejected by the Commissioners, were presented through the Legation or Consulate of the United States, but by private parties. The only claims urged by the American officials, were those of Atkins and White, the former of which has been admitted, and the latter will probably have equal good fortune.

It is gratifying to find this question of foreign claims wound up. Argentines must feel that these civil wars have cost them very dear. May we hope that this lesson will have its effect, by inculcating a desire for peace and industry? If so, we anticipate Sor. Pinero's motion will be unnecessary, and the disagreeable matter of foreign claims will be only known in history, as reminiscences of a stormy and disastrous epoch.

THE ORIENTAL LOAN.

BARON MAUA's LETTER.

Montevideo, July 27

To his Excellency the Minister of Finance.

With the view of aiding the government of the Republic, in its present critical circumstances, I authorised the manager of Mauá and Co's Bank to make a proposal for the purchase of 6 per cent bonds of the domestic debt about to be emitted by government, at the rate of 40 per cent, which is their market value, and will give about the same interest as the current rate of interest in these countries.

I feel that, by so doing, I render an important service to the republic, for whose well being I entertain such sincere and constant wishes, supplying the government with the necessary funds, to repress the evil elements which disturb the public peace.

The Bank of Mauá and Co, by virtue of a contract of old standing opened a current credit for government this, however, could only be temporary, as was the intention of such contract, namely, that the government might have at any time a ready resource whereby to meet unforeseen exigencies in anticipation of its usual rents. Such advances were to be satisfied gradually but within a brief term, with the receipts of public revenue in the months next following the temporary loan

Banks of emission, deposit, and discount, if well managed, have high and important duties to fulfil among the societies where they are established: their first duty is to have their own and their customers' capital always at hand and ready for realisation

To shew, moreover, that in this financial operation, my chief object is to render a service to this country where I have such valuable interests at stake, and where so many of my Brazilian countrymen reside, I will stipulate that, in case the proposal of Mauá & Co. be accepted, as the most advantageous for discharging the pecuniary obligations of the hour, and if, through the efforts of Government, and assistance of Divine Providence, peace be soon restored, this operation may be considered conditional by the Government for three months, during which time it may seek a more favourable engagement and cancel this arrangement by paying back to the Mauá Bank, the capital so advanced, with interest.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Yesterday town was rife with all sorts of rumours respecting Flores and Lamas. The friends of law and order regretted to hear of Flores' success whilst the revolutionary firebrands were almost out of their wits with joy to hear that Lamas had been beaten. We caution our readers against believing 'Tribuna' and 'Nacional' stories. Only the other day these papers stated for a fact that Flores had 2 500 men before Salto, which could not possibly resist him 24 hours longer. Yet, notwithstanding this, Flores could not take the most insignificant country town in the republic, Tacuarembo. Mercedes, it is said, is in a terrible state of excitement, and the streets are all barricaded.

We turn with disgust from these eternal revolutions, victories, defeats, and disgraceful, humiliating, ruinous South American squabbles to the praiseworthy efforts of our Liverpool Consul, Mr. Phibbs, in behalf of the country which this gentleman so ably represents. Mr. Phibbs, aware of the importance of the sheep farming business to Buenos Ayres, has thoughtfully sent us some prize essays on the lamb disease called the cramps, also the proper means to adopt for its prevention and cure. Furthermore we perceive that he is labouring heart and soul to induce emigration to the River Plate. We extract the following advertisement from the 'Albion,' a paper which has great circulation in the country districts:—

"The Argentine Republic, including Buenos Ayres and other thirteen provinces, is at present acknowledged the Foreign Land of Promise and Progress, owing to its liberal and enlightened Government, easy access, hospitable welcome, religious and complete liberty, excellent and healthy climate, fertile and varied soil, mines, railways, land concessions, cotton cultivation, sheep and cattle producing capabilities, abolition of passports and fees, increasing demand for labour of all kinds, and public credit at home and abroad. Capitalists, agriculturists, miners, mechanics, labourers, and all who propose to emigrate, as also tourists, may obtain every information concerning the Argentine Republic, by applying either personally, or by letter, to the undersigned, who resided twenty years in that country, and who will have much pleasure in affording his gratuitous advice to such as propose to emigrate.

"SAMUEL R. PHIBBS,
Argentine Consul.

"Spekeland-buildings, Liverpool."

The Vanderbilt we hear is coming down towards the Plate in search of the Alabama. She is the fastest American war steamer afloat, and it is thought fully capable of capturing the celebrated corsair. The Mohican is also on the Brazilian coast, so that it is more than probable the Southern privateers are no longer on the River Plate highway.

We read in a Liverpool paper that a well authenticated letter contains an announcement which will interest shippers to China. It states that the Confederate cruiser Virginia, formerly known as the Japan, has been ordered to the Straits of Sunda for the purpose of destroying Federal vessels en route to or from China

By the news, per last packet, it is more than probable that peace will soon be restored in the States, as the general feeling throughout the Union is, that the war has already lasted too long

We call attention to the scandalous conduct of some soldiers, chiripa tipstaffs, 'yclept 'tenientes,' in the partido of the Villa Mercedes. The full particulars of this outrage, which will be found in another column, comes from a safe reliable source. We trust that Governor Saavedra will have a most searching inquiry made as to who it is who sends these ruffian soldiers to rob foreigners of their property. Minister Acosta is greatly mistaken if he thinks that we will allow the matter to pass with this cursory notice. As we are the means of inducing people to emigrate to this country, so also shall we be the means of having the illegal acts of petty-post ruffians brought under notice.

The communication, signed 'British Merchant,' which will be found in another column, is well worthy of perusal, the statements are simply the facts unexaggerated, and admit of no reply.

The proposed law for the arrangements of the floating debt reflects the highest honor on the parties introducing it. Messrs. Quintana, Montes de Oca, and Zavala, deserve well of their country for the courage which they display in associating their names with 'gorros colorados,' at the risk of being attacked by the Tribuna and Nacional. It is consoling to think that there are three members of Congress who have the courage to stand up in defence of the almost ruined credit of the Argentine Republic.

Some strangers were much surprised to see the auctioneer's flag hung out of the bank building yesterday, expecting that paper dollars were going to be knocked down cheap they stepped in, but discovered that old doors and windows were the only articles for sale. The bank is putting up a steam engine for the printing of bank notes, as the hand presses are too slow. This looks bad—paper dollars by steam, as if we have not already too many of them.

The Argentine Consul in New York we hear, so far from wishing to resign is very well pleased with his post, and is most attentive in the discharge of his duties.

INTERESTING DESCRIPTION OF THE POLISH REVOLUTION.

The Polish insurrection is still spreading, notwithstanding all the efforts of the Russian Government for its suppression. Count Alexander Branicki, the owner of the immense estates, has been arrested and sent in to the east of Russia, upon suspicion of having assisted the insurrectionary forces by supplies of horses for their cavalry. It is estimated that there are now about 15,000 insurgents under arms in the districts of Volhynia, Podolia, and the Ukraine, but great difficulty prevails in obtaining anything like reliable information. There has been an unfortunate rising near Kieff. About 150 of the University students departed from the town in broad daylight, when they were followed by a body of Russian cavalry, who roused the peasantry against the Polish students, of whom about twenty were killed and a great number wounded. Kenonowicz, the Polish leader, has been captured and will be shot, but his band remains undiminished. A train, conveying troops to Lithuania, met with a frightful accident by the railway giving way, when 300 of the Imperial Guard were killed.

Another Polish hero has fallen. Padlewski, one of the leaders of the insurgents, has been shot in the town of Plock. He indignantly refused all offers of promotion in the Russian army upon condition that he abandoned the insurgents, and coolly smoked a cigar whilst with uncovered face he received his death volley from a file of Russian soldiery. Advocate Jrotozetloinski has been arrested at Warsaw. Abbe Jszola has been shot by the Russians at Wilna. The Poles have gained further victories in the kingdom of Poland and in Lithuania.

Sierakowski, the leader of the Poles in Lithuania, who was taken prisoner by the Russians, has died of his wounds. All the Polish employés in that district have been removed and supplanted by Russians. A letter from Brody states that the towns of Polune, Lubar, and Slavuta, in Volhynia, have fallen into the hands of the insurgents. A Russian detachment sent against them was repulsed. The mansion of M. Abramowicz, near Berdytchew, has been pillaged by the peasants and the entire family murdered. Notwithstanding all the efforts of the Russian Government, success continues to crown the insurgents, and the insurrectionary movement is in active progress throughout the northern provinces. The strongest evidence of the view which Russia herself forms of the war may be drawn from the fact that she has sent out the four crack divisions of the guards to supplement the army.

Scarcely a day dawns which does not reveal fresh acts of atrocity on the part of the Russian soldiery towards those with whom they are in conflict. M. C. Palawski, a young nobleman, whose only offence appears to have been that he was a Pole, has been dragged from his mansion to a retired part of the country ten miles from his home, there stripped to the skin, and barbarously maltreated. After inflicting 13 bayonet wounds upon him they pitched his naked body into a field to die; it was there discovered by a peasant and conveyed to the next village, but death soon after wards released the sufferer. In Wilna, a Russian general named Mourawiew is seeking to excel in brutality. The official executioners from St. Petersburg have been sent down, and no less than three priests and six noblemen have fallen victims to his rage. The halter or the bullet daily does its work upon the noblest and best of the land. These deeds of blood have however no tendency to weaken the insurrectionary movement or at all to circumscribe the extent of its operations. On the contrary, we learn that fighting is going on at the same time in all parts of ancient Poland; that so inextinguishable is the flame of liberty enkindled in the Poles that they have declared Russia shall have no peace on Polish soil; and now, from the Baltic to the Dnieper, her position is so unsafe that it can only be maintained by overwhelming forces. In the Ruthenian provinces also the insurrection has so rapidly and so widely spread that its spirit now impregnates nearly all the inhabitants of the district lying between the rivers Dnieper and Bug, and in those provinces the insurgents are generally well mounted and equipped. This state of affairs has so alarmed the Russian Government that it has thrown a force of 10,000 men upon the boundary line which divides Volhynia from Eastern Galicia. In the provinces more immediately under Russian control, the peasants are compelled to bear arms against their countrymen whether they will or no. If persuasion fails they are placed between columns of the regular troops and, as a consequence, Poles are frequently unintentionally shot by their insurgent friends. Though matter of regret, it will scarcely awaken surprise to learn that the Poles, incensed at the outrages they have received, have resorted to acts the justice and policy of which are very questionable. The National Government have executed the sentence of death upon nine persons as traitors to their country, one of them being a contractor, who had supplied the Russian Government with lead for bullets. The Bank of Warsaw has been plundered of 3,500,000 roubles, the greater portion of which consist of obligations of the Polish Landowners' Association.

It is asserted that after the recent battle of Tynaczow, in which a little band of brave Poles was defeated, General Brunner, a Russianised German of Courland, ordered the wounded men to be wrapped in straw strewed with gunpowder, and then to be set on fire. The horrible orders of this barbarian were executed, not a soldier in the Russian army being found to protest again such an atrocity. A wood near the Galician frontier, fired by the Russian troops, has defied all attempts to extinguish it, and an immense amount of property has been destroyed, the conflagration extending over nearly a thousand English acres. The brutality of the Russian soldiery, and the violation by the Emperor Alexander of all principles of honour and justice, are now matters of commons throughout the civilised world. Men of rank and station are degraded and subjected to every species of indignity simply because they are Poles; the rights of property are set at defiance, the protection of law is suspended, the sanctity of the house of prayer is violated, with a view to crush out the nationality of the people. The seeds of insurrection thus germinated in human blood and suffering will one day bear a prolific crop.

OUTRAGES IN MERCEDES.

Mercedes, July 26, 1863.

Dear Sir—On coming here last night I met a good many of my neighbours, Irishmen, who have been robbed of their horses, bearing their mark, in open day, by what they call a commission from Mercedes. Their statements are as follow:—

James Slevin, medianero of John Dillon, says they went to his house in his absence and took three horses and manéas that were on them; then they went to another medianero's house of John Dillon's (Hubert Maxwell's) and took three horses; they then told him they would give him two of them back for $100. When they got the money they gave him but one, and told him not to mention it. They then went to John Dillon's, he not at home, and took one of his best cart horses. When he came home he followed them with the teniente and got his horse.

Patrick Welsh states they went to his house and took his favourite horse; when he presented the mark they would not let him claim the spot where it was, but one of them drew his sword and struck him.

Thomas and Martin Sennet state that they went to their house and took horses. Senet mounted his horse to go to his landlord, the teniente alcalde; they followed him, beat him barbarously with their swords, and were it not that their leader's horse fell, poor Senet would probably have been murdered. They then went to Thomas Ledwith's house, he not being at home, caught his best cart horses and saddled them, when luckily the teniente alcalde arrived, and made them give the horses up; they then asked the mistress for $10 for doing so!

Several other countrymen have just arrived in Mercedes to make their claims: their horses were taken from them by the same party. We went to the Commandante Chanar; he said he would give us satisfaction when the commission returned. We expect he will; but our reason for publishing this is to demand of the authorities that such a person as Cortis, the Commissioner—who, perhaps, does not know the import of the order he bears—will not be entrusted with the like again. If a man shoots one of them in defence of his property, he is lodged in prison until God knows when.

THE UNITED STATES AND LA PLATA

In last Saturday's 'Standard,' 'Republican' laments 'the perhaps premature impulsiveness of new republics,' as demonstrated by President Mitre's complimentary visit to the United States Legation on the 4th of July. Next, 'Republican'—who, by the bye, must have mistaken his own name—suggests the probability of our seeing 'two' American Ministers in Buenos Ayres at no very distant time, and finally insinuates that the Argentine Government intended to snub the 'Confederate States'

As, in the United States, 'Republicans' is the party name of the Anti-Slavery faction, it seems to me, on second thoughts, that my primary conclusion, viz, that 'Republican' was a 'knight of the lash,' was a mistake I am, therefore, at a loss in my conjectures, for it is certainly very improbable that a British should volunteer to write in defence of slavery and of the men who seek to perpetuate the institution of buying and selling human flesh

When, a few months ago, the President of the United States sent a congratulatory letter to President Mitre, it would have been as just to have looked upon it as an attempt to snub Urquiza or El Chacho. Or, when some years ago, expressions of 'the most distinguished consideration' passed between France and England, 'Republican' must, no doubt, have considered it a 'bona fide' intention to snub the Sepoy mutineers of Cawnpore

President Mitre, all honour to him, has always been found on the side of liberty and human progress and will never, by voice, pen, or sword, seek to strengthen the shackles of the slave. His visit was not for the purpose of snubbing the self styled 'Confederate States,' but it was a tribute of respect to the American Union, as founded by Washington

In conclusion, I beg to assure 'Republican,' that a Confederate Consul will take up his abode in Buenos Ayres about the time that banana and orange trees will grow in the middle of Broadway, and Spitzenberg winter apples will cluster around the monument in Plaza Victoria

CAMP DEPREDATIONS.

To the Editor

Your valuable paper having frequently impressed on the authorities to consider the proper means to put a stop to the numerous robberies and murders amongst us, I shall want no apology for sending you my thoughts upon that important subject. Many persons have been of opinion that severe punishments were requisite in these cases, but constant experience proves the contrary, and that the consequence is only making rogues more desperate, and thereby increasing the danger, instead of providing for the security of honest men. One thing only I consider might safely be done, with respect to punishments, which is, that no criminal who is clearly convicted of murder should escape by transportation or otherwise. The lenity of the government suffers this, in hopes of an amendment; but when the mind is once corrupted to so great a degree, it is seldom capable of any virtuous sentiments, and it frequently happens that such persons generally return from transportation after a short time, and fall into the same murderous and felonious habits as before. Such kinds of pardons are considered by nocturnal gauchos as giving them hopes of perpetrating their crimes with impunity. If we inquire into the cause of all human corruptions we shall find that they proceed from the impunity for crimes, and not from the mitigation of punishments

However, it is the duty of every Legislature to make good laws and regulations for preventing notorious crimes, rather than contrive punishments for them I impute the number of robberies, in a great measure, to the immense number of idle villains in our camp towns, who, like animals of illomen, sleep all day and seek their prey at night. If the municipals of each district endeavoured to demolish those dens, of pollution and depredation they would do a vast deal of good, and be the means of promoting the welfare and tranquillity of the country. I acknowledge that we have a few reputable magistrates, who are as anxious in suppressing crime as ourselves. If others in office imitated their example, we would have less cant and more justice. The juez de paz of the Fortin is a gentleman of deep research and unimpeachable veracity, well liked by all the foreigners and highly adapted to fulfil his magisterial office. On the day poor Farrel was stabbed, the judge exerted himself in a becoming manner, but the four soldiers who pursued the assassin went helter-skelter for one quare, and then met altogether—like Brown's cows—instead of proceeding separately in a different direction. It is authentically rumoured that the murderer is transformed. I hope he has no horns or cloven hoofs, for such an awful transformation would terrify his pursuers, and be the means of effecting his escape.

FRENCH BANQUET.—We read in 'El Pais' that the French residents of Montevideo are going to give a grand dinner in commemoration of the fall of Puebla. The French Legation in Buenos Ayres hoisted its flag on receipt of the glorious intelligence.

£500,000.—This is the amount of the little bill done for President Berro by his obliging and monied friend, Baron Mauá.

ARGENTINE REPUDIATION.

Sir,

The Montevideo Government, harassed by internal revolutions, and with the heaviest debt in proportion to its resources of any country in South America, has just negotiated a loan of 2,500,000 hard dollars at 60 per cent. The amount has been taken by the local bankers and merchants without the least difficulty or hesitation.

Compare this state of affairs with the financial credit of the powerful and proud Argentine Confederation! With an immense territory rich with every natural production, extensive commerce and rapidly increasing population, the national debt is at the present moment without the least marketable value. Its 2 per cent bonds and treasury bills, that during the "immoral" Government of Paraná, were worth par, are to-day at zero. Its 6 per cent bonds worth then 75 per cent, are now of no value, since the extraordinary proceeding of the Senate, through the manœuvres of the Finance Minister, in refusing to order the payment of the interest and amortization fund due on part of them, as legally disposed of as any Government bonds in the world. This was energetically proved by two of the present Ministers, Dr. Velez Sarsfield and Dr. R. Elizalde, in last year's session of Congress, although this year, from some unknown reasons, the former Minister chose to hold his tongue when a word from him would have insured the bill passing. The best proof of the legality of these documents may be found in the brilliant speeches of these Ministers, as published in last year's Parliamentary report, to which we refer you, and recommend to your readers' attention. This publicly expressed opinion of two Ministers of the present Government led many to accept them in payment of outstanding debts, and also in guarantee for other operations. Now, at the eleventh hour, these same ministers are the most eager to deny their validity. Why is this? Is it, as public report whispers, that there are friends behind the scenes who want to buy these bonds at a cheap rate?

If it had been the intention of the present Government not to recognise any of the documents of the Paraná Government, they should have given notice to that effect immediately after the resignation of President Derqui, or as soon as that Government ceased. But instead of such a notice we have the public declaration of General Mitre, that he did not go to destroy, but to guarantee all property. At that very time many foreigners, ere accepting these documents, consulted their respective ministers, who gave them their opinion, that no honorably disposed Government could refuse to acknowledge such a debt, and on the strength of such an opinion they were accepted as of some value.

The Paraguay Government received them in payment of yerba sold to the Government, and bankers have advanced money upon their security. When General Urquiza, after Caseros, entered Buenos Ayres, he never thought of declaring the paper money issued by Rosas to be illegal or of no value: nor does President Mitre, we are sure, wish to set aside the national debt, but it is the influence of his two ministers, of Rosas' antecedents, that is soiling the fair fame and credit of the nation. The sooner these ministers are dismissed, the sooner will the dying credit of the Government be re-established and the vanishing confidence of the people restored.

LOCAL EVENTS.

INDIAN INVASION.—The cacique Mariano Rosas, with the Ranqueles tribe, has invaded the province of San Luis, and ordered the Governor to abdicate.

MONTEVIDEO.—Sr Bossi has returned from Paris, whither he had gone to publish his explorations in Upper Paraguay: he brings a new steamer, San Pedro, for the Oriental fleet. Sr Acevedo is gone to Paraguay, for his health. The French Buffos are playing at San Felipe. It is contradicted that Hector Varela fought a duel with Sr Mergarinos at Paris.

DEMISE.—We regret to announce the death of one of our oldest English merchants, Mr Ferdinand F. Delisle, after a protracted and painful illness.

FIRE.—The Austrian brig Laura, in Montevideo, with a cargo of coal, went afire on Tuesday, and was run in towards shore and sunk.

ARTESIAN WELL.—Messrs. Sordeaux and Legout are about to re-commence the bore, having procured the necessary sinking funds. This enterprise will prove of immense utility if they find water.

FRENCH CONCERT.—We are informed that the late musical entertainment at the Victoria Theatre was pretty good. Messrs. Frenchel and Nessler are pianists of the highest order, but the instruments were out of tune.

BIRTH.

On Change.

July 30.

Ounces opened at twelve o'clock at 134, being two dollars and a half under yesterday's closing price. They went up however, during the course of the day. At one o'clock they sold at 334 1/2, closing at two o'clock at 135.

The total sales of the day were 11,051, of which 1611 were for cash. The news of the defeat of Lamas threw a gloom over the Bolsa. Merchants who had hoped that the revolution was almost extinguished, were obliged to admit that there was no seeing the way out of this unhappy struggle. Flores, if he gets possession of Salto, may hold out for years, thus ruining the whole country. On the Bolsa, it was said that Piris was killed, and Lamas had retreated with a few men on Salto, that Mucature had been requested to lay up in front of Salto, and that the Manager of the Maua Bank had removed all the books, cash, &c. These rumours had a rather injurious effect on the price of ounces, which at the opening seemed very weak.

The prevailing opinion on the Bolsa this afternoon was that the Flores affair would last for probably ten years.

The projected law for the recognition of the floating debt has met with the greatest favour amongst the merchants. Messrs Quintana, Montes de Oca and Zuviria are rather popular on the Bolsa. The number of these unpaid vouchers is very considerable, although the total amount of the debt is insignificant.

In our remarks yesterday respecting the bid of the Baron Maua for the Oriental loan, we stated that his offer was for 250,000, instead of $2,500,000 silver dollars, the whole amount of the loan.

Produce sales, owing to the few arrivals in the Plaza are very limited. The weather is also rather unfavourable, there being more mud than wool in both plazas.

Sheep farmers keep remitting money home to their friends by each packet: this is a good sign. One house, we hear, drew for over one thousand pounds sterling by this packet in small sums.

Some large troops of capones have been sold at 48 in the North: the condition of the flocks, however, is much inferior to that of this time last year.

The auctions, by order of the Tribunal de Comercio, are at present alarmingly numerous, and shows the great distress which prevails amongst the minor shopkeepers.

The new Custom House law will come into force on the 14th August. President Mitre had not the courage to veto it.

The Esmeralda brought a whole batch of runaways.
